Come Tour the ONLY Amazon-Certified Package Testing Laboratory in Virginia!

If you would like to:

- Learn how packages are evaluated for Amazon,
- Learn the packaging requirements for Amazon,
- See demonstrations of what packages have to go through before they’re allowed to be shipped through Amazon’s distribution supply chains,
- And meet our talented students and lab technicians.

Come to the Center for Packaging and Unit Load Design’s Open House!

Our lab can help you learn what is needed to design or redesign your packaging to meet Amazon’s requirements as well as create packaging designs that are successful, sustainable, and cost-effective to help increase your company’s competitiveness.

The Open House and the Ribbon Cutting Ceremony will be on December 10th starting at 4pm.

Snacks, drinks, and a lot of information about our newly certified Amazon testing lab and how it can serve you will be provided during this event.
